Bail Receives Quivera Crown

The Gateway

Vol. XXXV OMAHA, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1955. No. 6.

Students Can Buy Reserved Seats for Play Next Week

Reserved seats will be available next week for "The Rainmaker," the University Theater production which will be presented Nov. 4 and 5. This is the first time in years that reserved seats have been used, said Dr. Edwin L. Clark, director.

The play was first conceived by playwright N. Richard Nash after a trip through the drought-ridden Southwest during the summer of 1950.

It was put into play form for the first time in 1951, however its first performance was the summer of 1953 when it was presented in abbreviated form as a television play.

Broadway Production in 1954

Shortly thereafter Nash was commissioned to write the story for Broadway. On Oct. 28, 1954 it was presented at the Cort Theater in New York.

Of the performance, Walter Kerr, New York "Herald Tribune," said, "a bolt of sunshine. An amazing amount of it strikes home." Brooks Atkinson, of the New York "Times," wrote, "It is a western without shooting and Mr. Nash's breezy sketches of the bumbling locals are uproarious."

Reviewers Laud Play

"This is a cloudburst of a hit," said reviewer William Hawken of the New York "World Telegram and Sun." "Here is Cinderella on a ranch, ending up with two princes and a thunderstorm."

Playwright Nash achieved his first major Broadway success in "The Rainmaker." His other plays include "The Young and the Fair" and "See the Jaguar."

Dr. Clark said of the University cast, "They are a remarkably able group, and I am sure they will do a terrific job of 'The Rainmaker.'"

Song Contest Entries Due in Two Weeks

This week the Song Contest has been pushed to the background by the Coronation activities.

The Contest is open to faculty, students and staff. Entries must consist of both lyrics and music, which may be by one or more persons. No entry of just words or just music will be accepted. Entries do not have to be accompanied by score arrangements. The deadline is at 3 p. m., Nov. 14.

Freshmen Get Grades

Freshmen counselors have received five-week grades from all instructors for the performance of the students. Each freshman should contact his counselor to find his class standing. Students failing in any subject who do not see their counselor will be contacted through letters to their parents.

Gateway Apology

The name of the school phone operator, Corrada Huntington, was incorrect in last week's issue. It was stated as Hunting.

OU Preserves Publications On Microfilm

Ever hear of microfilm? Many of us have the idea that it is for the documenting of government files, and things of a secret nature. Actually, how many students realize that the University Library has on microfilm entire volumes of the New York "Times" and the Omaha World-Herald.

The development of microfilm has stemmed from the need for preserving various newspapers, periodicals and publications of all types. Actual volumes of old newspapers are quite fragile, the average life of newsprint being about twenty years.

Microfilm is permanent, affording easy access without worry of having a valuable publication fall to pieces with the passing of time.

Now available on microfilm in the University Library are reproductions of every Omaha newspaper that has been published, beginning with Omaha's first paper, dubbed the "Omaha Arrow." The Arrow was published weekly, and first went into print July 28, 1854. It was short-lived, however, and was discontinued Dec. 29 of the same year.

The first few "newspapers" that Omaha published were all of short duration, and many folded after only a few months of publication.

Now on order for microfilm in the Library are the first 40 volumes of the "Annals of the American Association of Geographers." When they are received, they will, in addition to being valuable references for Geography students, serve as a background for the Geography Department which Omaha University has initiated this semester.

Clubs Should Reply

The Tomahawk requests that organizations desiring space in the yearbook turn in their space allocations as soon as possible, so that the deadlines may be met.

Editor-in-chief Dave Langevin has announced that Corlynn Goeiser has been added to the staff.

His Majesty, King of Ak-Sar-Ben LXI, President Milo Bail.

'Long Live the King' Chant of OU Students

Executives Attend King's Breakfast

One of President Milo Bail's most ardent fans is President Emeritus Rowland W. Haynes.

The former University president and now part-time professor led OU through a period of its largest growth up to the present time. In spite of ill health, Dr. Haynes attended the 7:30 a. m. Executive Breakfast last Monday in honor of King Ak-Sar-Ben LXI.

Others attending were Deans of the Colleges, University officials and Mrs. Bail.

The student ovation honoring President Milo Bail Monday morning was second only to the coronation ceremonies last weekend when he was revealed as the sixty-first King of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Over half of his student subjects gave a royal welcome to the president in morning-long festivities.

Two hundred students in cars bedecked with Ak-Sar-Ben colors awaited their royal monarch at his home at 7:15 a. m. Chants of "Long Live the King" greeted President Bail and his wife as they emerged from the door. Students cheered and the band played as the Bails were escorted to a car to lead the parade back to school.

The Victory Bell, presented by last year's senior class and which had not been used this year, rang loud and long as the parade approached the campus. Angels and Sabres saluted the King and his wife as they entered the school from the west wing door, and proceeded through columns of students lined the entire length of the hall to the Faculty Clubroom.

Student celebration subsided only long enough for the President and his wife to be introduced at a breakfast honoring them by the OU Executive Council. Miss Ann Pettis, Ak-Sar-Ben queen, entered the breakfast shortly before 8 a. m. and led the King and his wife into the hallway, where they again marched through student columns to a celebration in the Student Club.

Nine hundred students crowded into the Club to cheer the royal monarchs.

Rousing cheers that the King proclaim a student holiday were rewarded when President Bail granted the wish, and issued his second royal order: that students continue their outstanding performance as in the past.

At 9 a. m. nearly 100 cars followed the royal couple in a parade through downtown Omaha.

Homecoming Day Honors New King

Homecoming plans were discussed by the Student Council at their Oct. 26 meeting. Homecoming, Nov. 11, was designated as Ak-Sar-Ben Day.

A luncheon will be given by President Milo Bail honoring the governors, counselors, and officials of Ak-Sar-Ben, and their wives, and Queen Ann Pettis, preceding the game against Idaho State.

Committees were also announced at the meeting. Pat Vogel is the general chairman; Tom Harper is in charge of band arrangements; and Dick Daley is chairman of Publicity, Program and Invitations. Other committee chairmen include: Park Ames and Tom Harper, bonfire rally; Dean Thompson, parade; Gayle Anderson, dance; and Jean Vogt, pictures, gifts, and flowers.

World Affairs Lectures Recorded for Students

Anyone unable to attend the World Affairs lectures held on Wednesday evenings, will be able to hear them at the Teaching Aids office.

Each lecture is recorded on tape and will be available to interested students.

The series includes six lectures given by prominent world figures, New Fieldhouse Roof

Omaha University students will be under a new roof at the field house next week. Because of frequent heavy rains, holes have developed in the roof and a new uniform black surface must replace the old.

Dad's Day Tomorrow

Festivities for the annual Dads' Day celebration will begin at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow with a luncheon in the Student Center. Parents of the players will be OU's guests at the luncheon.

At the OU-Idaho game, the parents will be given reserved seats. At half-time the fathers will be introduced to the crowd and will go down to the field where they will receive cards with their son's uniform number.

All parents of OU students are invited to the game.

Editorially Speaking . . .

We Need Not Stop To Think

For 47 years, since the University of Omaha was founded, it has served students of its community. Action taken last week by the Board of Regents to seek information from the Federal Government on a loan to finance a dormitory-Student Union means that OU is nearer the dreams of its founders than ever before.

Are we qualified for such expansion, and can we afford the estimated $1,700,000 cost? We answered yes!

An editorial last week in a local newspaper was headlined "Better Stop and Think." We have thought too long of the obvious benefits of a Union, and of the need to provide housing for the several non-resident students.

That same newspaper expressed their interpretation of the purposes of the Municipal University when they said "To make higher education available to the young men and women who live in Omaha and its environs who are not able to go elsewhere to school. These young people do not, of course, need dormitories."

There is no mention in any University charter that says we are to satisfy ONLY Omaha students or that forbids construction of dorms. Education is not to be segregated, as has been implied, when some feel that our expansion would compete with the State University of Nebraska. Why should we be isolated from benefits of learning about other arts of the country from non-resident students?

The University is not qualified to issue bonds unless they are to go toward revenue producing facilities. Dormitories are revenue producing.

This is not a "poor man's school" as some have said in the past. The men and women attending this school are to be the social and civic leaders of tomorrow. We will not stop to "think" about expansion. bje.

Educator, Not Teacher Goal of John D. Miller

"Anyone who stands before a class and speaks on a given subject can be classified as a teacher. I'm not interested in being a teacher, but an educator. I want my classes to think musically and not merely be taught the rudiments of music."

That is the attitude of John D. Miller, new associate professor of music and director of the University Choir, toward his profession. He replaced Richard H. Brewer, who is teaching and studying at UCLA.

Westminster Choir College Grad Miller, recently discharged from active service in the Navy, received his Bachelor and Master's Degrees in Music at Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N. J.

In his studies, he directed and arranged selections for the Princeton "Nassoons," a musical group like the Yale "Whiffenpoofs," in addition to directing his own vocal quartet and various other barbershop quartets.

Inspiration Only Ten Percent

"Inspiration is ten percent, and the work is 90 percent when it comes to composition of music," according to Miller. "To me, inspiration does not come from sitting in the moonlight and being suddenly motivated by the beauty of the surroundings. That's too sentimental. If we all waited for such inspiration, there would be little music in this world."

Miller has prepared choral arrangements to the accompaniment of "Autumn Leaves" and the Christmas carol, "Deck the Halls" for the school choir.

Carol Opens Christmas Program The carol will be the opening number of the choir's Christmas program.

He recently signed contracts with music publishers for two other compositions, "The Gift of Christmas Morn" and "Noel." Both are for a cappella choruses.

Many Students Assist With Coronation, Ball

Dr. Milo Bail, King Ak-Sar-Ben LXI, although the main attraction for everyone at the Coronation, was not the only familiar face to Omaha University students who attended.

The queen, Ann Pettis, attended Omaha University for a short time although she graduated from Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass. in 1953.

OU students also recognized Don Blocker, Dick Mathews, Dana Tucker and Jim Undeland who served as escorts. Dick and Jack Smith, alums, also were escorts.

There have been several inventions that have benefited newspaper work. The first typewriter was invented in 1867. The original and its copies may be found in Room 215.

Dear Editor
Baldy Curious
Why Gift Bell
Stored in Shed

The "Victory Bell," donated by the class of '55, has never sounded on the OU campus. As of this writing, it is stored ingloriously in the tool shed.

John Cottrell, president of the '55 graduating class, presented the bell to the University, on an agreement that the University furnish a suitable location and standard.

Voice of Victory

The bell was to have tolled the notes of athletic victories over the campus, and was to be located on a standard about ten feet north of the flagpole, between the main building and the field house.

For some reason, construction of the standard and raising of the bell has never been accomplished. Many students have expressed desires to see the bell erected. At the same time they are bewildered at the delay in construction of a standard.

Why in Tool Shed?

The bell would have been used considerable this semester due to OU's excellent football position resulting in the defeat of every contending opponent with the exception of Washburn at Topeka. In addition, school "spirit," however excellent, would be even more elevated as the ringing of the bell denoted another OU victory.

The bell has no significant place in the tool shed. Why not comply with the generous donation of the class of '55? Baldy.

Editor's Note:

The victory bell was rung for the first time at the celebration for President Milo Ball on Monday.

Courtesy to Profs
Overlooked at OU

"Courtesy" is an over-used word. However, the obvious connotations are many times overlooked by the most courteous students.

Most of us remember to say "please" and "thank you," but few students remember to give the proper title of respect to their professors.

Many men and women teaching at the University have earned a Ph.D. degree but they are still referred to as Mister or Mrs. instead of their correct title of "Doctor." These instructors have studied several years to improve their teaching. We students can show our appreciation of their efforts by addressing them properly.

A look in the University catalogue will tell you the degree held by your instructors.

Elaine Sternhill.

Editor's Note:

Although it is common courtesy to address a professor with the title of his rank, many professors prefer to be called Mister or Mrs. It all depends on the professor and his student relationships.

One Woman Professor at OU

Miss Margaret Killian, head of the Home Economics Department, is the only woman faculty member to hold the position of professor. Dr. Nell Ward, former head of the Chemistry Department who retired last year, was also a professor. She is now a part-time counselor at the University.

Dr. Beyer To Address
Omaha Chem Society

The Omaha Section of the American Chemical Society will meet at 7:45 p. m. at the OU Auditorium Nov. 8. Dr. Beyer of Iowa State College will speak on Solvent Extraction.

Why do more college men and women smoke

than any other filter cigarette?

Because only Viceroy gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance—cellulose—found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
3. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor—even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
4. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip . . . and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette . . . that's why VICEROY is the largest selling filter cigarette in the world!

Policeman Says 'Bad Deal' Not Reality; Officers Lenient

Student drivers at OU are not being treated as harshly as they may believe. Campus Policeman Fred Blair explained several leniencies shown to drivers.

He said, "We make our hourly rounds of the lot about fifteen minutes after classes begin." This allows ample time for students who are coming from earlier classes to reach their meters before the law does.

Supervision of campus parking is handled by a staff of three officers, who work in shifts. Mr. Blair emphasized that the campus police staff does not enforce minor violations as severely as the city police.

For example, if an automobile is slightly outside the parking stall lines, no ticket is issued. In this way the not-too-precise driver is given the benefit of the doubt. If a meter is jammed it should be reported to one of the officers on duty. By notifying the officer, drivers can avoid trying to talk themselves out of paying a fine.

The ticket-fine business is dropping off day by day, but tickets will be issued to autos not carrying the University parking permit stickers. Parking registration makes it easier to identify the owner of any car in the lot.

Mr. Blair said the co-operation of all students in obeying this regulation will be appreciated.

Near 80 Percent Sign For Senior-Exec Day

One hundred and eighty-one of the 229 seniors have registered for Senior-Executive Day, Nov. 9, as guests of Omaha firms. This is about 80 percent.

There are 18 vacancies to fill the quotas of the businesses.

Seniors who didn't register Oct. 25 and 26 will be sent a letter or be called by a telephone committee.

Transportation will be provided and the students will be luncheon guests of the firm they visit.

Lewis To Speak At Annual Meet

C. Glenn Lewis, assistant professor of real estate at the University of Omaha, will attend the eighth annual Real Estate Educational Conference at Columbia University Nov. 3 and 4.

Lewis will take part in the program on the role of the University and formal real estate education. He will describe the University of Omaha's unique practical work program requiring the student to work 10 to 20 hours weekly in real estate or in savings and loan companies.

Also scheduled to talk is Lloyd Petersen of the National Company, Omaha, on the education of real estate personnel without formal education.

'Doors of Knowledge' To Begin Broadcasting

"The Doors of Knowledge" WOW radio programs will begin broadcasting Nov. 2 at 11:45 a.m. and will continue every Wednesday.

Follow-ups on the World Affairs Institute constitute the first four programs. Other programs will concern home economics, physical education, speech, ROTC, departments and other activities associated with the University of Omaha.

OU's Pat Vogel Voted Miss Omaha Aviation

activities throughout the year.

Other Angels selected by the Arnold Air Society to compete for the title were Gayle Anderson, Jean Harrington, Lois Proffit and Judy Rogers.

Pat Vogel . . . "Miss Omaha Aviation."

Miss Pat Vogel, member of the Angels' Flight, is "Miss Omaha Aviation." Members of the aviation subcommittee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce selected Miss Vogel at a luncheon last Friday. Her position was announced to the public today.

Miss Vogel, a member of Chi Omega sorority, will participate in the Nov. 6 dedication ceremonies of the airport outer-drive. Mayor John Rosenblatt will proclaim that day as Omaha Aviation Day. The Marching Angels and Sabres Drill Squad will also perform at the outer-drive ceremonies.

The junior education major is a member of Marching Angels, Angelaires, Chorus, Madrigals and is secretary of the Student Council. Last year Miss Vogel was elected by an all-Greek vote as Theta Chi Sweater Girl. The former Tomahawk Beauty Contest finalist was awarded the Emma Metz Music Scholarship last year. As Miss Omaha Aviation she will participate in other aviation ac-

Faculty, Staff Fail to Guess King's Secret

Mrs. Vesta Benson, King Milo Bail's secretary, was among the most surprised when the identity of the new monarch of Quivera was revealed.

Mrs. Benson, who handles the phone calls and appointment book in the President's office, said she had no inkling of the forthcoming honor. She said, "I was completely surprised."

Bail's Calmness Deceiving

She reported that President Bail left early Friday afternoon, but this did not make her suspicious as he frequently leaves at that time to attend meetings. She said, "He was very relaxed on Friday and gave no indication that anything out of the ordinary was to happen."

Mrs. Emily Baker, secretary in the General Printing and Information offices and former Queen of Ak-Sar-Ben, said, "I was completely surprised and of course overjoyed. The change in tradition is a wonderful thing for Ak-Sar-Ben and for OU. It would be a real thrill to be Dr. Bail and know that I had been a part of the best-kept secret in the coronation history."

Members of the faculty were also taken by surprise. The OU Squares, faculty square dancing club, was having a party at the time and didn't learn the news until quite late. Among the oblivious dancers was Robert McGranahan, Director of the University's General Printing and Information Department.

Women's Curiosity Almost Fatal
Miss Margaret Killian, Professor of Home Economics, became a bit curious at the Faculty Women's Club meeting a week before the coronation.

Mrs. Bail, who always stays until the end of the meetings, got up about a half hour early and started to rush out. Miss Killian asked her why, and she said, "I have to . . . er . . . I have to get Dr. Milo home."

Bail Relates Two Incidents

President Bail relates two incidents that could have been suspicious, had his staff only realized his new position. Shortly after learning of his selection as King, he, Melvin Bekins, chairman of the Coronation Ball, and J. J. Isaacson, general manager of Ak-Sar-Ben, surveyed the Auditorium for the King's reception. Mrs. Thelma Engle, University hostess, saw the gentlemen as they came from the Auditorium, but only thought that the visitors, who carried blueprint plans under their arms, were connected with OU's expansion program.

Name List Baffles Staff

Activities the week preceding the coronation proved baffling to Mrs. Benson and Miss Regina Hughes of the Adult Education Office, when President Bail asked for endless lists of faculty, staff and friends who, unknown to them, would be included in his reception list. "It was rather strange," said the President, "for me to ask 'Is she married or single, and what is her home address and phone.'"

Wife of New King Wears Pale Pink

Mrs. Milo Bail, the wife of the newly-crowned King Ak-Sar-Ben LXI, witnessed her husband's coronation in a full length gown of pale pink peau de sole made with a long-torsoed bodice and a full skirt. Pearl and rhinestone embroidery ornamented the dress. The king's wife was among the guests in the box of Melvin Bekins, governor and this year's ball chairman.

Bail Gives Bracelet

A bracelet of cultured pearls and diamonds set in white gold was the gift which the new king of Ak-Sar-Ben presented his queen. Spaced at intervals with three cultured pearls were 20 diamonds set in bars of five stones each.

President Bail First Educator To Reign as Ak-Sar-Ben King

Dr. Milo Bail, president of the University of Omaha, is the first educator to rule as King Ak-Sar-Ben.

On only four occasions has anyone outside the business world received the coveted honor. Three lawyers and a physician sat on the throne in other years.

The selection of the University of Omaha president as King Ak-Sar-Ben LXI also broke the tradition of family roots in Omaha. Dr. Bail has lived here only seven years.

Born in Missouri

Dr. Bail was born on June 26, 1898, in Boonville, Mo., to the late Dunleavy Bail and Mollie Bail. While he was still very young, his parents moved to Marshall, Mo., where his father had a rural mail route.

As a 12-year-old, Dr. Bail delivered newspapers. By jerking sodas in a drug store and helping his father deliver the mail, he helped pay his way through high school. He was active in sports, playing on the high school football and basketball teams.

Dr. Bail entered Missouri Valley College in Boonville in 1918 after a stint in the Navy. He graduated two years later with a Bachelor of Arts Degree. In 1928 he earned the Master's Degree from the State University of Iowa, and in 1931 he received the Doctor of Philosophy Degree from the same university. In 1947 his alma mater gave him a Doctorate of Law.

Teaches in Minnesota

Dr. Bail began his teaching career at Redwood Falls, Minn.,

High School in 1920. While teaching chemistry and physics, he coached football, basketball and track at Keokuk, Ia., high school from 1921 to 1928. His football teams won 70 percent of their games while his basketball teams won 80 percent.

During the next 20 years, Dr. Bail served as Principal of the University of Iowa High School, Iowa City, Ia.; Director of secondary education at Hibbing, Minn.; President of Chevy Chase Junior College in Washington; Visiting lecturer in the College of Education at the State University of Iowa; Dean of the College of Education and Director of University College at Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind.

Enrollment Increase

Enrollment at the University of Omaha has increased by two-thirds in the seven years that Dr. Bail has been here.

Dr. Bail is a member of many honorary and professional fraternities, associations and committees. In 1952-53 he was president of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

His civic activities in Omaha include service with the Omaha Committee of '52, Omaha Industrial Foundation, Christmas Seal Drive, Douglas County Cancer Drive, YMCA, Omaha Rotary Club, Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, Omaha Athletic Club, Dundee Presbyterian Church, Omaha Presbyterian Theological Seminary Board, Lininger Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite and Tungier Shrine.

Bail's Administration Sees Much Progress

By Bill Wolcott

The name of Milo Bail has been synonymous with progress ever since his arrival at Omaha University in the fall of 1948.

Since Dr. Bail's arrival, enrollment at OU has increased by two thirds. In the fall of 1948 enrollment stood at 1,913 students. In 1950, due to the Korean conflict, enrollment had dropped to 1,750; but this semester enrollment stands at 2,200, not to include approximately 2,500 students currently enrolled in the College of Adult Education.

Many outstanding projects have become realities since Dr. Bail assumed presidency of the University. In 1949 the $750,000 Field House and Stadium were completed. In 1950 the College of Education, formerly a department of the College of Arts and Sciences, was established; and the next year witnessed the inauguration of the AF-ROTC program.

New College Added

The year 1953 witnessed the establishment of the College of Business Administration, under the direction of John W. Lucas. A graduate division was established on February 1, 1954, directed by Dr. Roy Robbins.

A confirmed believer in academic achievement, Dr. Bail has promoted the $840,000 University Library Building. Construction was begun in June of 1954, and is to be completed in the near future. Another notable addition to the University's facilities include the $47,000 Music Hall, slated for completion Dec. 15.

Sports have flourished at Omaha. In 1954 OU's grid squad, unbeaten and untied, received an invitation to the Tangerine Bowl; the Indians emerging the victors with a 7-6 edge over Eastern Kentucky State. In basketball, the

New Monarchs Appear At Chamber Luncheon

Quivera's new monarchs, Ann Pettis and Milo Bail, Tuesday made their first formal appearance since the Coronation.

They were among those attending the Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs luncheon honoring the Ak-Sar-Ben organization. Also attending were the Board of Governors, the Counselors and former kings and queens of Quivera.

Former King and Gov. W. D. Lane addressed the group. He spoke on the many public services performed by Ak-Sar-Ben. He outlined the organization's contributions for scholarships and 4-H and civic projects.

Indians defeated Creighton Bluejays 95-86.

Most Recent Academic Addition

Possibly the most important academic addition this current semester is the establishment of the Department of Geography, under the direction of Richard Thoman. The department now offers courses enabling students to obtain a minor in Geography.

Omaha Citizens Proud

In the eyes of the citizens of the city of Omaha, OU is an institution of which they are genuinely proud. In the city election of May, 1951, Omaha voters raised the University levy to two mills from the previous one mill.

Students and faculty members feel that the addition of a Student Union would be of great benefit to OU, as OU's name is reaching far and wide, and students from various areas will be in need of living space on or near the campus.

The proposed Union is estimated to cost about $1,750,000. The University Regents feel that such a functional building should be entirely self-liquidating, a financial asset to the University. The Union would provide such space for the Bookstore, Cafeteria, certain business offices, and a limited number of student business accommodations.

During Dr. Bail's administration the radio programs have expanded to include a television series, and Vocation Day programs.

An Alumni Secretary has been added to the University staff, and a Reading Improvement Laboratory has been established. There have also been notable advances in the dramatics department, the latest being the sale of reserved seats for the production of "The Rainmaker," to be presented Nov. 4 and 5.

King's Reception Set for Sunday

Dr. and Mrs. Milo Bail will entertain at the King's reception from 2 to 6 p. m. Sunday, in the University Auditorium.

The reception is for business and personal friends and faculty and staff members. Approximately 500 people will be received each hour.

Planning the reception are Dr. and Mrs. Bail, Mrs. Emily Baker, secretary of the Information Office; Miss Margaret Killian, Home Economics Department, and Mrs. Thelma Engle, University hostess.

The Consulate General of Israel suggested "Education in Israel" as a topic for a term paper. Free information can be obtained from the Consulate at 936 North Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

Hail to the President King Ak-Sar-Ben LXI

In tribute of the high honor bestowed upon University President Milo Bail, his students, faculty and staff extend their loyal appreciation.

The words of the King's warrant, read at the Ak-Sar-Ben Coronation, express so well his unselfish service to the University of Omaha and to his community.

"In this mundane world frequently we turn for leadership to the great marts of trade and commerce. But others also contribute lofty and inspired service to our people and must continue to do so in order that the future of the nation may be in capable hands.

"... Today, as never before, our children are being educated for greater horizons ahead. So now, we too, look to the field of letters and the field of science for one who is symbolic of all who carry aloft that great torch of enlightenment which shall lead us to greater glories."

President Bail's determination to serve his students and faculty is evident in his wish "... It is my fervent hope that I may continue to represent other educators who are charged with the importance and rewarding responsibility of adequately preparing our youth for their future roles in this great land of ours."

A telegram, sent by the University faculty, echoes the wishes of his students, "... thank you because of the great distinction which, with royal splendor, you have brought to the University."

It is the heartfelt desire of his student subjects that we may execute his royal wish that we continue our "outstanding performance as in the past."

It is with pride that the "Indians" salute their "Chief," a term of endearment that Dr. Bail feels is one of his greatest tributes. The respect he has gained while at the University these past seven years reflects his personal feeling toward all his students and his excellence in perfecting his many purposes.

In all the splendor of the greatest civic and academic honor to be bestowed by Governors of Ak-Sar-Ben, Dr. Bail has continued to feel that it is because of the performance of his students. We proudly thank our President-King that he finds us worthy of sharing that honor.

Dad's Day Opponent Beat Omaha in 1951

Northern Illinois State will provide part of the thunder for the annual Dad's Day festivities when the Huskies meet the Indians on the home field this Saturday. Kick-off time is 2 p. m.

Last Team To Beat Indians

The Bob Kahler-coached crew is the last team to have spelled defeat for the Indians on home soil. They defeated the Indians 27 to 26 in 1951.

But last year was a different story. The Omaha boys, held scoreless the first quarter for the only time during the entire season, scored a 26 to 7 win in Illinois.

Coach Kahler is a product of Nebraska University. In spite of the fact that his boys are off to a slow start this fall, tying one and losing four, he has still received much praise for his coaching abilities.

OU Ready for Home Crowd

The Indians are fresh from their strong second-half victory over St. Ambrose last Saturday night, and are ready to roll before an expected large home crowd.

Although Omaha's Bill Engelhardt missed the first game of the season due to an injured ankle, he again is up among national small college leaders in total yardage.

Engelhardt who last year won the total yardage championship with 1645 yards, is ranked fifth after five games by the Associated Press.

Engelhardt Has High Average

Statistics including the St. Ambrose game show Engelhardt has compiled 844 yards. He has attempted 71 passes and completed 33 for 534 yards. On 92 carries, "Big Bill" has rambled 310 yards for a 3.3 average.

Engelhardt has also taken over the majority of the punting to make him a triple threat this year. He has kicked eleven times averaging nearly 35 yards.

Mural League Loses Teams

Intramural flag football received a boost and a setback the past week.

The league lost two teams, ROTC and Lambda Chi, because of repeated forfeits. Starting time for all games will be 3:00 instead of 2:30. This should enable teams to field a complete eleven by game time.

Theta Chi, Pi Kappa Alpha and the Pawnees have remained undefeated going into this week's competition. Theta Chi faces both Pi Kaps and Pawnees this week.

P. E. Yil's and ISA each lost one game by forfeit last week. Last Friday's action featured the P.E. Yil's 67-7 victory over winless Tau Kappa Epsilon. Sparkling catches by end John Jorgensen and an airtight pass defense highlighted their victory.

Team captains having games scheduled for last Monday are advised to check the intramural bulletin board for the date changes.

Workshop Slated For Girls Phys Ed

A Recreational Workshop will be sponsored by Omaha University Women's Physical Education majors at the Benson Recreation Center during the next three weeks.

The workshop will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., Nov. 3, 10 and 17.

Shirley Barnum is in charge of making all necessary arrangements for the training program. Her assistant is Mary Ann Larson.

Participation in the workshop is open to anyone interested in social activities leadership. Cost will be 25 cents per session.

Beverly Thoma is winner of the Omaha University Women's Intramural golf tournament. She posted a 46 for the Elmwood Park play-offs last week. Other finalists included Pat Buell, Sandy Dungan, Joyce Morris and Dale Peters.

Three volleyball games were played during the first week of tournament action. Next week's action includes Alpha Xi and Unaffiliated II, Tuesday; Chi Omega and Independents, Wednesday, and Sigma Kappa and Unaffiliated I, Thursday. All games are scheduled for 4:15 p. m.

Sports Shorts

Emporia ran away from Omaha University and Drake cross country teams in a triangular meet at Emporia, Kans., Saturday afternoon.

OU finished last in the triangular, and dropped duals to both Drake and Emporia. Mel Decker led the losing Indian runners.

Emporia's Billy Tidwell topped the harriers with a time of 21 minutes, 36.8 seconds over the four mile uphill and downhill course.

Basketball

Head Basketball Coach Jack Cotton has invited all interested male students to sign up for the 1955-56 season.

Registration will take place in the Fieldhouse Business Office, Tuesday, Nov. 1.

Coach Cotton said there is need for new talent at all positions and is hoping for a large turnout.

Indians Top Bees In Migration Game

By Jerry Fricke

An intermission pep talk by coaches Lloyd Cardwell and Tom Brock evidently pulled Omaha University's Indians out of a first half daze. They came back in the second half Saturday to score three touchdowns and whip St. Ambrose, 21-7, at Davenport, Ia.

A dismal first frame saw the Indians failing to capitalize on two St. Ambrose fumbles. The Bees finally broke the ice, scoring with two and one-half minutes left in the half.

The Bees started their drive on the 20 and it took them only two plays to cover the 80 yards. Both were Webb-to-Clint Westmeyer passes. The first carried to the OU 27 and the second was a TD strike.

Engelhardt Off Form

Engelhardt had a bad first half, completing only three of 14 passes. His inability to hit may have cost OU a tie at intermission.

The Indians marched to the St. Ambrose seven from their 29. Two running plays failed and two passes fell incomplete.

The second half was a different story. With 4:45 gone in the third quarter, tackle Marv Nevins fell on a Bob Webb fumble on the St. Ambrose 19. The Bees were penalized to the 14 on the next play.

Four plays later Pete Rigatuso blasted over from the one and Arnie Smith converted to make it 7-7.

Touchdown number two for the Indians started from their own 18. Five plays carried to the 30. From there Engelhardt hit Dick Cotton on the OU 46, and the tall senior outran the defenders to the end zone. Smith added the point.

Omaha's third touchdown was a 97-yard march and was climaxed by Pete Rigatuso's 42-yard sprint. The drive started late in the third quarter.

Four plays carried to the Omaha 19 as the quarter ended. Eight plays later OU had the ball on the Bees' 42. From there Rigatuso did the rest.

Bees Threatened

St. Ambrose threatened twice in the last quarter. But OU held on the 7 and an intercepted lateral halted the other drive on the five.

Demeral Andrew replaced co-captain Tom Harper, who was suffering from the flu for the only substitution in the first half.

Orchesis Schedules Tryouts, Plans for Local Performance

Tryouts for Orchesis, national modern dance organization, will be at 5:30 p. m. Nov. 8 and 15 in the Women's PE Hut. Anyone who has had dance instruction or is now enrolled in modern dance is qualified to participate in the tryouts.

Orchesis members will give their first performance at the local Teachers' Convention today. They will appear on a television program next week, giving an interpretative dance of various sports.

Dancing at the Homecoming game is next on the list of Orchesis activities. Demonstrations at high schools and at the City Auditorium are planned for later in the year.

April 27 is the date set for the annual Orchesis concert.

Orchesis officers are Judy Bonduant, president; Betty Coleman, secretary, and Marilyn Brandes, publicity chairman.

arOund

By Carolee Wickman

Some people laugh off their cares with a casual, "It's neither here nor there," but not this column! We're going to be talking about just those two places: "here" being Omaha University, and "there" being a very special area of a familiar downtown establishment—Brandeis.

And just what's new on the OU campus? Everyone agrees that there couldn't have been chosen a more worthy sovereign of Ak-Sar-Ben than our own leader, Milo Bail. By having our President in the spotlight, we consequently find the University being recognized with a little more awe in our city. We have increased our prestige in this reflected glory and should take this opportunity to strengthen a brand new gold-plated reputation.

Omahans could well have called Monday's downtown celebration a "History on Wheels," for nearly 100 cars of every size, shape, color and make were represented in the parade. A fire engine, still bedecked with its life-saving gear, sent our cheers to watching crowds. Something patriotic with Ak-Sar-Ben colors was a bright red hearse, carrying posters in green and yellow and overloaded with 16 riders, (alive, of course).

Now, however, classes and campus activities go on as usual.

Just received a special bulletin from the biology department. Extra precautions will be made tonight to look up the skeleton in the lab closet. Keeping him secured is a step to make sure he doesn't rattle his bones on this Halloween weekend. It is felt he might be especially inclined to get even with all those people who have been tickling his ribs these last few weeks.

Now for the business at hand! When you think of a colony, do you usually think of bees? There's a beehive of activity at one colony in Omaha, The Junior Colony, third floor Brandeis, that rates as its queen bee our Lady Fashion! If you wear junior sizes, (7, 9, 11, 13 or 15), you'll be amazed at the clever and fashionable assortment of clothing at your fingertips.

As a means of introduction it should be mentioned that the Junior Colony features sportswear, party dresses, knit dresses, suede jackets (some especially smart-looking suede and tweed outfits), sweaters, (and if you have cashmere taste on an orlen budget, you'd be interested in the new Wondamere sweaters which look and feel like cashmere in all its glory!) Also included in the Junior Colony is the Cameo Room for formal wear.

Each week this column will feature sidelights of campus life, and . . . verbal sketches of some of the newest and most desirable fashion buys, keyed to the college woman, awaiting her at Brandeis—third floor.

Greek News . . . Parties Head Social Plans

Sorority-fraternity parties head this week's Greek social activities.

Alpha Xi Delta

A costume party with Theta Chi will be tomorrow evening at Camp Brewster's Inspiration Lodge. Ron Nemer and Judy Samuelson are co-chairmen.

Chi Omega

Chi O's will meet at 9:30 a. m. Sunday for breakfast at the Blackstone Hotel before attending 11 a. m. services at First Central Congregational Church.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Rick Cavanaugh and Don Feline were formally initiated last Sunday at Dr. J. D. Tyson's home.

French Club Sets Masquerade Party

A masquerade party for French Club members will be at 8 p. m. tonight in the Student Club.

The French Club is the first campus organization to use the Student Club since its recent redecoration.

Prizes will be awarded for the two most original costumes and also for the funniest costume. A mask will be the minimum masquerade. Judges will include Miss Amy Crabbe, president, of the Omaha French Alliance; Mrs. Mary Wardle, whose husband, Dr. Ralph M. Wardle heads the University's English department, and Dr. Edwin L. Clark, head of the University dramatics department.

Refreshments will be served at the party. All University students in good standing who are interested in the French language and culture are invited to attend.

Dick Matthews are co-chairmen.

Sigma Kappa

Pledges skipped to the City Auditorium Oct. 20 after a dinner for actives and pledges at the home of Alumnae Donna and Marilyn Hayes.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Mary Jane Ackerman and Gloria Zadina are Zeta's new courtesies chairman and corresponding secretary, respectively.

Pledges To Present Fall Dance at Peony

Honorary To Entertain

Alpha Lambda Delta's annual "Smarty Party" will be from 3 until 5 p. m. Wednesday in the Faculty Clubroom.

Women placing in the upper 25 percent of those taking the University entrance exams will be honored at the Party.

Four new members will be pledged. They are Beverly Beach, Bonnie Sorensen, Camille Wells and Janet Winslow.

Marilyn Crandall, president of Alpha Lambda Delta, is in charge of tea arrangements.

Newmans Plan Picnic

The Newman club will have a picnic Sunday in Elmwood Park. They will meet at 3:30 p. m. at the shelter house. All members are urged to come and bring a Catholic student friend.

The Newmans will have a business-education meeting at 3 p. m., Tuesday in Room 308. The topic under discussion will be "Why Study Religion?"

The pledge Dance will be from 9 p. m. until midnight tonight at Peony Park.

Planned and presented annually by pledges of campus social sororities and fraternities, the dance is directed this year by freshman student, Jim Nemer.

Assisting Nemer on the dance committee are Jack Lemen, secretary and Judi Hansen, treasurer.

Members of special committees include Nancy Fitt and Bill Welch, band; Sandy Dungan and Al Longacre, skit and Kay McGinty and Walt Gray, decorations and flowers.

Skeets Mahoney and his orchestra will play for the dance. Dress will be informal. Admission is one Greek card per couple.

Sponsors include Capt. Bruce Keltz, Mr. John Miller, Dr. Gale Oleson and Mr. Wilferd Wortman.

Tea To Honor Angels

A tea honoring new initiates of Angels' Flight will be from 2:30 to 4 p. m. Sunday at Rosemary Comine's home.

All old and new members of Angels will attend and pictures of the group will be taken.

Miss Comine, Joan Palladino and Kay Talty are in large of arrangements for the tea.
